What you should know before buying

If you're browsing for e-liquids and aren't sure what to pick, here's a little background to help you make an informed choice:

VG/PG Ratio

Most of the products listed above use a 50/50 VG/PG ratio. Here's what that means:

- VG (Vegetable Glycerin): Thicker liquid that produces more vapour and a smoother throat hit.
- PG (Propylene Glycol): Thinner and carries flavour better but gives more throat hit.

A 50/50 blend is ideal for beginner-friendly devices like pod kits or MTL (mouth-to-lung) tanks. It gives you a satisfying inhale and good flavour without needing a high-wattage device.

Nicotine Type

You'll usually find two kinds:

- Nicotine Salts: Smoother and more stable. Great for heavy smokers switching over.
- Freebase Nicotine: Hits harder and feels more like traditional cigarettes.

All the Crystal Clear, Vortex, Doozy, and Vampire options listed are available in nicotine salt versions.
